Lokomaika'i is a 7-acre, organic and sustainable farm located in the heart of centuries-old Mango Grove in Kapoho on the Big Island. This sacred area is a protected, two mile stretch of mango forest several hundred years old! An oasis within an oasis, relax and 'Be' in Nature's embrace.

Completely off-grid, the Sun provides solar electricity and the entire region is free from high-voltage EMF radiation. Pure rain-water is collected and filtered for personal use and drinking. Satellite Wi-Fi internet provided. Multiple dwellings from luxurious to minimalist available!

Lokomaika'i is a moment's walk to Arches Trail: a walk through a Hau tunnel opens to exquisite tide pools along Kapoho's coastline. Half mile further down Beach Rd. is Mermaids tide pools--another natural beauty! Champagne Pond, Wai'opae Tide Pools for snorkeling, Ahalanui warm pond for swimming or relaxing, and Puna's favorite surf spot, Pohoiki, are all less than a ten minute drive from your home. A short drive to Pahoa offers an abundance of eclectic treasures for a small town: restaurants, boutiques, grocery stores, a museum, and much more to explore. Several farmer's markets also offer local and organic food options. Visit Hawaii's Kilauea Volcano or walk, bike, or boat to view as Pele's lava flow as fire meets the sea to create an ever-growing Big Island !

Words of current resident:

"I presently live happily at Lokomaika'i. I am a meditation teacher, therapist and professional EMF consultant. I choose to live only at safe locations, with little or no EMF disturbance and quite a distance from local cell towers. I was asked to help create an EMF safe community here at Lokomaika'i. We accomplished this by eliminating toxic wireless radiation, providing a comfortable, central location for people to sit and work on their computers using a hardwired connection with ethernet cables. We also installed an advanced piece of equipment onto the solar electric system and reduced the toxic, high frequency transients (dirty electricity) in all of the living structures by up to 90%. Lokomaika'i is a perfect example of what a new paradigm community can be - people with loving hearts, beautiful, spacious environment, and EMF safety for healthy living." -Neil Cohen / EMF Consultant / Therapist / Meditation Teacher
